

Reading Old Handwriting from the Sixteenth to Nineteenth centuries

Family researchers often talk about the difficulties reading old handwriting and deciphering old documents. In this presentation, genealogist Elizabeth Briggs will show examples of earlier styles of writing in written materials such as letters and official documents, as well as the techniques for reading them.

A Zoom link to attend will be sent when you register.
This event will not be recorded.

Online Event
Wednesday, October 15
6:30-7:30 p.m.

Free. To register, scan the QR code, phone, visit, or go online at winnipeg.ca/library

